To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter to recognize the outstanding abilities and characteristics of Brady Fossenbell. I have worked very closely with Brady in the Learning Services Department at the district level in Adams 14 for two years. We have collaborated on teacher induction professional development at the district level. We have also worked together to train and support teacher leaders to deliver English Language professional development across the district. I consider Brady to be an outstanding candidate for any leadership role within your organization.

Brady has a calm, cool confidence about him. He is the first to ask clarifying questions when given a task and completes the task with 100% professionalism. He is confident in his work with language learners especially when coordinating professional development for teachers. He is always willing to learn and grow to be a stronger leader and role model to others around him. You can count on him to complete a task in the highest professional manner. His work is respected at the school and district level.

Attention to detail, thoroughness and professional relationships are Brady's strengths. When he was given the task to work with our teacher leaders to deliver professional development to their staff, he was diligent and careful about every detail to ensure that teachers receive pertinent information in a timely manner. He is very thorough and mindful of managing large projects. He has co-developed ELD PD for over 20 hours of teacher induction and collaboratively worked with instructional coaches to develop the content. Brady also developed high quality District level Academic Language PD (1 full day and 4 half-day K-12 ELD sessions). When Brady embeds content into his professional development sessions, it is researched based and based on data.

He is a problem solver and always thinks proactively in tough situations. When problems come his way, he considers those around him and reaches out to his team to collaborate to reach a solution. He was able to adjust the content of our induction PD to meet the needs of the diverse educators as well as change meeting times.

In closing, I have the highest level of respect for Brady. He is professional, hardworking, and determined to do the job right the first time. It is a pleasure recommending him for any leadership position within your organization.

Sincerely,

Kimberly Reynolds
